ANTONY GORMLEY & ANISH KAPOOR

Contemporary British artists who have won worldwide recognition and appreciation for their highly innovative, different approaches to design in sculpture.

Antony Gormley OBE RA

Almost all of his work takes the human body as its subject, with his own body used in a number of works as the basis for metal casts. His work attempts to treat the body not as an object but a place.

Angel of the North Gateshead 1995

Wildenstein New York

Anish Kapoor CBE RA

Acclaimed for his explorations of matter and non-matter, specifically evoking the void in both free-standing sculptural work and ambitious installations. In 1987 he began working in stone. His later stone works are made of solid, quarried stone.
