Day 1 - We travel, by coach, from the Radlett area to Salford Quays, Manchester. Here we will visit the Lowry Galleries, with a short introductory talk, and the Imperial War Museum North. The Lowry Galleries are home to various works of LS Lowry alongside contemporary exhibitions. Housed in a striking aluminium clad building, the IWM North focuses on how war continues to shape lives. Late afternoon we continue to our hotel. Dinner at our hotel.

Day 2 - Today we visit Port Sunlight Village and Museum and Lady Lever Art Gallery. The model village of Port Sunlight was created by William Hesketh Lever in 1888 for his Sunlight Soap factory workers. Here we take a guided tour of the village on board our coach and have free time to explore the museum and Lady Lever Art Gallery, a beautiful building now home to one of the UK's finest collections of fine and decorative art. Return to our hotel for dinner.

Day 3 - After breakfast we travel into central Liverpool for our guided visits to the city's two cathedrals. The Anglican Cathedral is Britain's biggest Cathedral and took 74 years to build, with the first foundation stone laid in 1904. The modern Metropolitan Cathedral opened in 1967 and features modern works of art and striking multi-coloured windows. Originally conceived as a huge neo-gothic building, work was halted due to pressures of war and rising costs and only the Lutyens Crypt was completed, the fine brickwork and granite pillars can still be seen. There will be free time in the city (an opportunity to visit the Walker Art Gallery should we wish) before commencing our homeward journey.

The exact order of excursions may be subject to change.
